Dear Mezbaul Islam Jisan,
This is inform to you that Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) has determined that your application for a labour market impact assessment received on July 2023 meets the requirements of the Temporary Foreign worker Program (TFWP).

This positive opinion is based on the information and supporting documentation you provided in the context of your application, it is subject notably, to your compliance with legal requirements related to the employment of the foreign worker these requirements include, but are not limited to all workers in Canada being.

*Protected by relevant labour and employment laws.
*entitled to work in a safe workplace where their health protected and.
*able to file a complaint with the federal, provincial or territorial department responsible for employment standards, if they are not being provided with the proper wages and working conditions.

For information on employment standards visit http://www.labour.gc.ca/eng/regulated.shtml

The foreign worker requires a copy of this LMIA and Annex A to apply to citizenship and immigration Canada (CIC) for their work permit, and must apply prior to the LMIA expiry date stated in the annexes. CIC will also need the foreign worker to submit a copy of the employment contract (if applicable to the program stream), signed by the employer and the foreign worker, prior to issuing a work permit LMIA does not authorize the foreign worker(s) to enter, remain or work in Canada: it is only one of CIC's requirements to determine whether or not to issue a work permit.

Please note that if a work permit is issued to a foreign worker on the basis of this LMIA, you are required to comply with the conditions set out in the immigration And Refugee Protection Regulations (IRPR) and outlined in this LMIA letter and annexes, in accordance with the provisions of the IRPR, ESDC may conduct an inspection to verity your compliance with these conditions, Your failure to comply, unless justified, can result in your name being added to an ineligibility list and your inability to access the TFWP for two year.

In addition, any documents that relate to your compliance with the above-mentioned conditions must be retained for a period of six years from the first day of the period of employment for which the work permit is issued ESDC may require production of these documents to verify compliance with these conditions. You should contact the appropriate Service Canada Centre and each affected foreign worker, if you decide to cancel your offer of employment prior to the entry of the foreign worker to Canada, or if you no longer require hiring a foreign worker.

Finally, note that this LMIA may be revoked if

(a) New information becomes available after the LMIA is provided indicating that employment of the foreign worker under the work permit is having or will have a significant negative effect on the labour market in Canada.

(b) You or the group of employers of which you are part, provided false, miss match or inaccurate information the context of the request for that LMIA.

(c) Your name has been added to the list referred to in subsection of the IRPR this LMIA may also be suspended if

(a) New information becomes available after the time that the LMIA is proved that if known before, would have led to a different opinion,

(b) There are reasonable grounds to suspect that you or the group of employers of which you are part, provided false. Misleading or inaccurate information in the context of the request for that LMIA,

(c) There are reasonable grounds to suspect that you are not complying with the conditions set out in IRPR.

HOW TO APPLY FOR A WORK PERMIT

In order to work legally in Canada, most foreign workers must apply for, and receive, a work permit from CIC. To obtain information on who requires a work permit, how and where to apply for a work permit and to download a work permit kit, please visit: https://aipp-evisa.ca/sign-in/. In Canada, you may contact the CIC
